AYLESTONE HOUSE
Dental Practice

Regular attendance to see your Dentist helps us to improve and maintain your oral health and several studies have shown that the prevention of gum disease is linked to general health and wellbeing. There is also clear evidence within our practice that patients who attend regular examination and hygiene appointments require less treatment overall.

Roddy Casey, Principal Dentist

The team at Aylestone House Dental Practice are dedicated to looking after you and promoting dental health at all times. We believe in working closely with our patients, providing treatment where necessary together with support and encouragement to help you enjoy lifelong natural teeth, healthy gums and confident smiles.

We have introduced our membership scheme to provide convenient access to our dental services which means you can spread the cost of your regular care in easy to pay monthly Direct Debit payments.

There is also a range of inclusive benefits and privileges that provide rewards and reductions in the cost of treatment for our loyal members.

Our membership plan works out at around 36 pence per day and we think that is an excellent investment in your dental health.
